

Once upon a time in Alaska, there were three little pigs.

The first little pig
found a trapper cabin
for his home.

The second little pig built a hut on the tundra out of willow branches.

The third little pig carved blocks of glacier
ice and built an igloo.

The three little pigs loved to play in the Alaskan snow.

Their noisy fun woke up a very hungry grizzly bear who chased the three little pigs back to their homes.

“I’ll huff and I’ll puff and I’ll blow your house in!”

The trapper cabin toppled
with one hot bear breath!

The first little pig ran to the second little pig’s willow branch hut.

“I’ll huff and I’ll puff and
I’ll blow your house in!”

The bear blew so hard the willows whirled like a blizzard!

The two little pigs raced to the third little pig’s igloo.

“I’ll huff and I’ll puff and
I’ll blow your house in!”

The bear blew so hard that icicles hung from his nose, but the sturdy igloo didn’t budge.

The grizzly bear climbed up the igloo—and slid right in a barrel of melted snow! He froze solid.

The three little pigs loaded
the frozen bear onto their dogsled and pulled him back to his cave.
